

Angela Hong

Analyst, Korea Autos Research, Nomura

Angela joined Nomura in September 2011 and is the Korea autos, internet and telecom analyst. Prior to her current role, she was at HSBC covering Korean autos stocks and before that was at JP Morgan covering internet and telecom stocks. Angela also held a consultant role at Accenture in Seoul, Korea and Munich, Germany, and advised global TMT companies on establishing business strategies