

Charlie McElligott

Managing Director
Cross-Asset Macro Strategist, Americas

Charlie McElligott is a Cross-Asset Macro Strategist for the Americas at Nomura, with more than 15 years' experience in macro markets. He concentrates on positioning and sentiment, alongside quantitative factor analysis.

Prior to joining Nomura, Charlie was Head of US Cross-Asset Macro Strategy at RBC Capital Markets. Before that, he spent eight years at UBS.

Charlie has a BA in Government with a focus on International Relations from Dartmouth College.