

Christophe Duval-Kieffer

Head of Inflation Strategy, Nomura

Christophe Duval-Kieffer is a desk analyst working directly with trading desks on the design of inflation-linked transactions.

Prior to this, Christophe worked as a researcher on inflation and worked as head of inflation research at Nomura and various other firms. He focuses mostly on inflation products in developed markets, including the US, the euro area and the UK.

Christophe holds two MAs and one Msc in finance, mathematical finance and economics.