

Albert Leung 梁守纶

Northeast Asia Rates Strategist

野村东北亚洲利率策略师

Albert joined Nomura in June 2015 as North Asia rates strategist covering the China (both onshore and offshore), Hong Kong, Korea and Taiwan markets. Prior to Nomura, Albert worked at Bank of America Merrill Lynch which he joined in 2011 as an Asia local market strategist. Before Merrill Lynch he held a similar position at Citi, having moved across to fixed income research in 2007. Before that move Albert had been a member of Citi's Asia and global equity strategy teams. Albert has a Masters degree from the University of Warwick, England.