

Dan McNicholas

Head of Capital Introduction
Nomura

Dan is the Head of Capital Introductions within Nomura's Prime Finance business. Nomura's Capital Introductions team provides clients with market insight and targeted introductions to the world's leading investors, include sovereign wealth funds, corporate and public pensions, endowments, foundations, family offices, insurance companies, funds of funds, and associated consultants globally.

Before joining Nomura, Dan held roles in Asia with State Street Corporation, Bank of America Merrill Lynch and Lehman Brothers. Dan attended The University of Notre Dame and earned a Masters from New York University's Stern School of Business.