

Ken Takamiya

Managing Director, Head of Asia-Pacific Banks & Other Financials Research
Equity Research Department
Nomura Securities Co., Ltd.

Ken Takamiya joined Nomura Securities in August 2009. He started his working career at the Bank of Tokyo (currently Bank of Tokyo Mitsubishi UFJ) in 1992. At the bank, he worked in Yokohama, Madrid (Spain), and Tokyo, and also studied at the University of Salamanca and University of Barcelona in 1995. He was mainly dedicated to capital markets business at the bank, such as securities brokerage & trading, derivative structuring & sales.

He joined Nomura Asset Management in 2000 as buy-side financial sector analyst, and then worked at Credit Suisse First Boston Securities in Tokyo and Mizuho Securities as sell-side bank analyst. He was ranked third (sector: Japanese banks) by Institutional Investors in 2014. As a bank analyst, he tries to distinguish himself with his global insight gained through his working experience in the industry outside Japan and knowledge of the industry from both an academic and professional point of view.

He has a BA from Keio University, and an MA from the Open University of Japan.