

Gareth Nicholson

CIO and Head Discretionary Portfolio Management
Nomura

Gareth has a strong institutional investment background with 16 years of experience focusing on risk-return across fixed income and multi-asset portfolios. His responsibilities included helping steer one of the biggest derivative books in London through the Lehman's collapse, restructure the risk framework for the European Fixed Income Funds during the European crisis and most recently help build the one of the largest Asian DPM businesses here in Singapore.

He has also built strategic partnerships with IAM/EAMs, Family Offices and solution providers such as BlackRock factor model and MSCI ESG. Most recently, Gareth was the Executive Director, Head of Fixed Income Discretionary Portfolio Management at the Bank of Singapore. Concurrently, he was non-Executive Director, Board Member of BOS International SICAV and a member of the Investment Committee of OCBC Wealth. Prior to that, Gareth spent 10 years with Aberdeen Standard Investments as their Senior Portfolio Manager. Gareth holds a BSc (Financial Mathematics) from the University of Johannesburg.